

E-learning v optometrii, využití léčebných standardů v praxi

E-learning in Optometry: usage treatment standards in practice

Synek S.

E-learning in optometry presents a new effective way of education. Optometrists are full qualified experts in field of refractive error and corrective aids. E-learning cannot replace personal contact with pedagogues but can enrich lessons with complex information about client and imitating a real practice. Clinical standards with quality indicators can improve level of understanding but also prepare graduate to everyday activity.